AeroVironment Appoints Teresa Covington as Interim Chief Financial Officer

MONROVIA, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- AeroVironment, Inc. (AV) (NASDAQ:AVAV) today announced the appointment of Teresa Covington as interim chief financial officer, effective immediately, until a permanent replacement has been selected and appointed. Covington succeeds Jikun Kim, who has resigned as senior vice president and chief financial officer.

"While decisions like this are never easy, I believe now is the right time," said Jikun Kim. "Working with the AeroVironment team has been a tremendous personal and professional experience for me. Most rewarding has been helping to position the company for long-term growth. I am confident AeroVironment will achieve continued success."

Tim Conver, AeroVironment chairman and chief executive officer, said, "Jikun Kim has contributed in many ways to AeroVironment's progress and we are now stronger, more diversified and better positioned to achieve our growth potential than when Jikun joined in 2010. The Board of Directors, our employees and I thank Jikun for his service and wish him the best in his future endeavors."

Kim is leaving the company to pursue other business opportunities. His departure is unrelated to any issues regarding financial disclosures, accounting or legal matters. AeroVironment is working with a leading global executive search firm to identify and evaluate qualified candidates to serve as chief financial officer.

About Teresa Covington

Since joining AeroVironment in 2011, Teresa Covington has provided financial leadership for AeroVironment's EES business segment and has served as a senior member of the company's finance team. Covington's responsibilities included financial analysis, planning, accounting, credit and collections as well as launching and leading a new product line management organization.

Prior to joining AeroVironment, Covington served as senior vice president and chief financial officer at Line 6, a $100 million annual revenue musical instruments company now part of Yamaha. Covington earned her master's in business administration from Stanford University Graduate School of Business, a master's in electrical engineering from the University of Southern California and a Bachelor of Science in electrical engineering from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.
